1. General approach we prefer for December 11 meeting is one in which you will make generalized statement of US desire for improved relations and suggest date and arrangements for formal meeting but avoid any specific substantive discussions on other issues. We believe Chinese will accept fact that short notice of current meeting makes detailed discussion of issues impractical and will themselves be unprepared to deal with substance. We wish to draw Chinese out into formal resumption of talks and believe it would not be helpful now to hint at issues we wish to discuss. This might in fact discourage Chinese and diminish likelihood we will be ~~able to~~ able to move toward more productive meeting in coming weeks.

2. Following are points you should make in your meeting with ChiCom Charge:

a. Since this is first face-to-face encounter since beginning of Nixon Administration, it provides an opportunity to begin exploring whether some improvement in our bilateral relationship may now be possible.

b. The Chinese are ~~xxx~~ aware of statements by President and Secretary Rogers making clear our belief that there should be greater communication with Peoples Republic of China, that we believe China has an important role in Asia, and that in last analysis
~~eventually~~ Asian decisions must be taken by Asian nations themselves, a process in which China should take a part.

These statements are authoritative and serious.

c. We do not wish to engage in sterile rehash of old ideological arguments.

We recognize that major ideological differences will remain between us. We assume that many such differences will persist in the world. We believe nevertheless that an honest mutual effort to explore state-to-state differences can result in reduction of tensions presently existing. This would be of benefit to both sides.

d. ~~xx~~ You should state you are not authorized to broach specific issues or topics for discussion at this time but would like to propose formal meeting between our ~~xx~~ two governments sometime during week of January 12-16, or at a mutually agreeable date soon ~~thereof~~ thereafter. You should tentatively suggest January 14. At such meeting, each Government could set forth prospective agenda or topics for discussion as well as any specific proposals and suggestions it wished. You should decline to be drawn on specific agenda items on grounds you have no instructions to do so at present time.

e.2 xox You should propose that next meeting be conducted using the Chinese-English interpretation we have adopted in the past in such discussions. Need for clarity and avoidance of multiple interpretations is obvious advantage of such approach.
